ASAC Belmont called and referred to the fact that in September, 1946, we examined the effects of Halprin, one of the principal subjects in this case, when they were stored in a warehouse and that he subsequently moved this material to his residence.

Mr. Belmont stated he had been advised that Drew Pearson on his broadcast last night stated that a former University of Oklahoma Professor, who was a former employee of the State Department, will soon be indicted for his Communistic activities. These two identifying items, of course, apply to Halprin. It was noted that a little later in the program, Pearson referred to the treason case against "Axis Sally" and specifically requested that any witnesses to her treasonable acts should communicate either with T. Lamar Caudle, Assistant Attorney General or directly with him, Pearson. Mr. Belmont suggested that this reference might indicate that Caudle and Pearson had been together and might explain Pearson's knowledge which was the basis for the comment about the former University of Oklahoma professor.

HANDLED BY
S. M. DESS

Mr. Belmont also points out that the above referred to comments will undoubtedly be interpreted by Halprin as applying to himself and it can be expected that he will destroy any pertinent material which he might still have in his possession. It is suggested that this radio news item might be the subject of another memorandum to the Department emphasizing the lack of security in handling the information we have furnished this case.

In connection with the above case I desire to point out another incident reflecting the unfortunate results of the obvious lack of security attendant upon the handling of the information made available by this Bureau concerning this investigation.

Drew Pearson in his radio broadcast on the night of February 2, 1947 stated that a former University of Oklahoma Professor, who was also a former employee of the State Department, would soon be indicted for his Communist activities. This reference obviously was to the subject Maurice Halperin, who undoubtedly realizes from the identifying data contained in Pearson's broadcast that he is the person referred to.

Undoubtedly, after this broadcast Halperin destroyed any pertinent material of evidentiary value which may still have been in his possession. In this connection, further, it is known from highly confidential sources that on

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

TO : Director, FBI
 FROM : SAC, Los Angeles
 SUBJECT: GREGORY
 ESPIONAGE - R

DATE: January 8, 1947

CONFIDENTIALRe: JOHN HERMAN DIERKES

According to information contained in a communication to this office from Washington Field, dated September 17, 1946, JANICE KROLIK has been a correspondent of JOHN DIERKES who figures in the GREGORY case, through his contacts with several of the subjects. KROLIK'S address was stated to be in care of LAIT, 7225 Hollywood Boulevard, Los Angeles. (C)u

Investigation by this office has determined that GEORGE LAIT and his wife, JANE PECK LAIT, reside at the above address. However, the manager of the apartments at 7225 Hollywood Boulevard when contacted under pretext stated that no person by the name of JANICE KROLIK lives there, or has lived there in the past to her knowledge.

The records of the Los Angeles Post Office show no change of address for JANICE KROLIK.

In order to determine if this person is receiving mail at this address authorization is therefore requested of the Bureau to place a 30 day mail cover on GEORGE and JANE LAIT and JANICE KROLIK, 7225 Hollywood Boulevard. A spot check showed that JOHN HERMAN DIERKES visited someone at the above address on October 18, 1946. (C)u

The Washington Field Division is requested to advise this office of any variations in the spelling of the name JANICE KROLIK, which may assist in identifying this individual. DEFERRED RECORDING

While I was taking another telephone call last evening, Mr. Lamar Caudle telephoned and stated that the conference on the Gregory case would take place in the Attorney General's Office, with the Attorney General, at 3:30 this afternoon. I am attempting to reach Mr. Caudle to advise him that you will not permit the Bureau to be represented if there are to be status reports given surreptitiously to the press as to the discussions and as to the Bureau's position.

Pursuant to your previous instructions and in accord with the conference arranged by the Attorney General, I attended the meeting in the Attorney General's Office at 3:30 this afternoon. In attendance, in addition to the Attorney General, were Mr. Lamar Caudle and Mr. James McInerney of the Criminal Division. Early in the conference I referred to the fact that you considered the publicity in this case, as carried by the United Press, most unfortunate and that you did not desire the Bureau's views to be expressed at this conference if there were to be blow-by-blow reports given surreptitiously to the press about this conference or other developments or proceedings in the case. I pointed out that it was obvious a number of the subjects had been placed on notice of the Bureau's knowledge of their activities because of this publicity and that it was not unlikely that the whole future course of the case had been affected by this publicity. At this point, the Attorney General interrupted to state that he had learned the identity of the person who gave this story to the United Press. Mr. Clark stated he had "cornered" Fred Mullen and after 15 minutes of interrogation of him, had obtained the name of the source of the story. Mr. Caudle and Mr. McInerney appeared uneasy but made no comment on this point.

The case was discussed for approximately 1 1/2 hours with McInerney making a surprisingly detailed and factually accurate presentation of the case predicated principally upon his interrogation of the original informant, Gregory, in New York. McInerney urges prosecution of principals in the case upon a charge of conspiracy in that they conspired to deprive the government of their own or other government employees' loyal services. McInerney says there is a Supreme Court case sustaining prosecution in a case of this kind in which a government employee surreptitiously gave out information to people not entitled to it. I pointed out that the defendants would probably introduce official government records in the form of efficiency reports which would set forth that they rendered very efficient service, were better than average employees, and probably that they were recommended for meritorious consideration.

There was considerable discussion about the possibility of prosecuting for espionage or conspiracy to commit espionage, and I expressed your view that the facts in this case would not sustain such prosecution and pointed out that if corroboration was developed, it would only corroborate trips to New York or from New York to Washington, quasi-social meetings in New York or Washington, and other secondary items without once permitting the definite identification of a secret, confidential or restricted item which had been conveyed to an agent of a foreign government with knowledge or intent to harm the United States or to aid a foreign government. I pointed out that the success of prosecution in this case would hang by the thread of the testimony of a single informant whose contacts were probably espionage agents who were either dead, returned to Russia or unidentified. McInerney argued at some length about the corroborative value of the testimony of Mary Price and one or two others, but the Attorney General concurred in my contention that this corroboration was of such a secondary nature that it didn't even establish a prima facie violation, and the Attorney General concurred in my belief that even with this type of corroboration, a motion for a directed verdict would have to be sustained. During the course of the discussion, I stated that you were very, very reluctant to see this case prosecuted, primarily because you did not believe that successful prosecution could be had, particularly since in the Jaffe case, where there was a great deal of documentary and other corroborative evidence, the prosecution had failed miserably.

The Attorney General again expressed the view that successful prosecution could not be had and stated that he most certainly supported your position.

The conference concluded with a request of the Attorney General that the Bureau recommend to him what course of action should be taken in the case, with particular reference to one of three possibilities as follows:

1. That the Bureau continue this investigation upon its present basis exactly as we are doing at this time as an intelligence operation, or
2. That the Bureau openly interrogate a selected number of the principals in this case who might be expected to make full statements, for the purpose of obtaining evidentiary material or as an alternative that selected people be called before a grand jury to determine whether anything of an evidentiary nature would be obtained from them, or
3. That the Department, through established channels, furnish to the employing department sufficient evidence upon each of the conspirators in this case to justify and require the departments discharging these people from the government service.

Memorandum for the Director

I told the Attorney General that your views would be submitted to him.

There is a certain amount of advantage and disadvantage in each of the suggested programs outlined above. I will bring the over-all question up at the Executives' Conference tomorrow morning for a consensus of views as to a desirable course of action and, in addition, I am soliciting the views of the supervisors in Mr. Ladd's section who have handled the case. If it appears desirable, we can also request the views of the New York Office upon the possible courses of action.

The Executives' Conference considered the questions raised in the attached memorandum as to the course of action which might be taken by the Department in disposing of the Gregory Case. Mr. Tamm outlined the background of the case and the potential courses of action which might be considered and upon which a recommendation had been requested from you by the Attorney General. The Conference is of the unanimous opinion, after carefully weighing all of the possible action and the advantages and disadvantages of each potential program, that the Bureau should recommend to the Attorney General that he transmit to the employing Departments the basic information upon each of their employees who are subjects in this case, in order that those Departments may take appropriate action. The Conference believes that the memorandum transmitting this material to the employing Departments should be very carefully worded in order to protect sources, to guard against statements where we don't have at least administrative proof, and to protect the Bureau's general modus operandi. The Conference believes that if this course of action is followed, it will discharge the Bureau's responsibilities in the case and at the same time will permit the Bureau to continue to cover the activities of any of the subjects in whom the Bureau is interested on an intelligence basis with the minimum of difficulty. The Conference believes that the transmittal to the employing Departments should be by the Attorney General rather than by the Bureau, fundamentally because this removes the Bureau from the status of being the accuser.

If you approve this recommendation, there is attached hereto a memorandum to the Attorney General outlining your position in this regard.

Those in attendance at this session of the Executives' Conference were Messrs. Tolson, Glavin, Harbo, Hendon, Nichols, Hince, Mumford, Rosen and E. A. Tamm.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

I have been advised by Mr. Tamm of his conference with you yesterday concerning the disposition to be made of the Gregory Case. I feel, as I asked Mr. Tamm to express to you, that the facts as developed in this case will not permit a successful prosecution in the Federal courts of the subjects despite the reprehensible and disloyal nature of the activities of these people. You requested that I furnish to you my views as to a recommended course of action with consideration given to the possibility of (a) the Bureau continuing its investigation of this case as an intelligence operation, (b) the Bureau or a Federal grand jury interrogating a selected number of the subjects or (c) that the Department furnish to the employing Departments the basic data concerning the activities of the individual subjects in this case in order that the employing Departments might take administrative action against those employees who were participants in the operations of this intelligence ring.

After carefully considering the present and potential possibilities of the several suggested courses of action, I am of the opinion that the best interests of the Department and of the Federal Government would be served by your bringing to the attention of the Heads of the several Government Departments and agencies the activities of their individual employees as established by this investigation. I believe that such action will result in the crippling of the effectiveness of this group, since it does not appear that successful criminal prosecution is possible. I believe that in submitting the information upon the individual subjects to the Heads of the Departments where they are employed great care should be exercised to so prepare and submit the material that it will not embarrass the Bureau's informant coverage or overall modus operandi.

Respectfully,

Reference is made to the attached teletype from the New York Office advising that inasmuch as Gregory's employment with the U. S. Service and Shipping Corporation has concluded, she plans a three-week vacation in San Juan, Puerto Rico, in the immediate future. Gregory has inquired of the New York Office if the Bureau can assist her in securing reservations at the Condado Hotel, San Juan, Puerto Rico, or some other hotel offering similar accommodations, for three weeks beginning February 14 next. The New York Office has requested that the Bureau instruct the San Juan Office to endeavor to secure such accommodations under the informant's true name in view of the fact that Gregory has never previously requested any assistance or accommodations from the Bureau and has received no compensation whatever for her services.

As you will, of course, recall, Gregory has been extremely cooperative and the information furnished by her has been of the greatest possible value. She has never been compensated by the Bureau, although she has spent a great amount of time and effort which has been of invaluable assistance in connection with the above case.

ACTION:

In view of this, it is strongly recommended that the San Juan Office be instructed to secure the requested reservations for Gregory. Because of security considerations, however, and in view of the undesirability of the Bureau's being linked with Gregory at this time, it is not believed that these reservations should be made directly by the San Juan Office.

Attached for your approval is a teletype to the San Juan and New York Offices instructing the San Juan Office to make the requested reservations for Gregory through a reliable office contact in order that the name of the Bureau will not appear in connection therewith and in order that there will be no possibility of the connection between the Bureau and Gregory coming to the attention of Communist elements in San Juan through this transaction.

GERHART EISLER, with aliases, et al

(Refer 5 IS)

Dear Sir:

Please refer to Bureau letter dated December 11, 1946, captioned as above, in which attention is drawn to the statement of LOUIS F. BUDENZ that he saw BERGER (EISLER) at the funeral of JACOB N. GOLOS on November 28, 1943. It was requested that Confidential Informant GREGORY be reinterviewed for the purpose of securing all details she recalls concerning GOLOS' funeral.

On December 27, 1946, GREGORY advised that on the night of GOLOS' death, she telephonically contacted LEM HARRIS and apprised him of the news; that he suggested to her that she call GRACE HUTCHINS of the Labor Research Association, 80 East 11th Street, New York City, to secure the name of someone to make funeral arrangements. According to the informant, HUTCHINS told her that she should contact some individual at the IWO office in New York (whose identity GREGORY cannot recall) and request him to make appropriate arrangements. GREGORY did telephone this individual, and he said he would take care of the funeral arrangements, and accordingly did retain the Gramercy Park Memorial Chapel, 152 Second Avenue, New York City. The details of the funeral were handled by this un-named IWO official and the funeral home, and GREGORY had nothing further to do with arrangements except that subsequently she paid the bill out of funds of World Tourists, Inc.

With further respect to the funeral itself, informant was unable originally to recall the identities of persons attending, but after casually discussing the matter with an employee of her office, ADELAIDE S. CHERWIN, she was able to report that the following persons did in fact attend the funeral services at the Gramercy Park Memorial Chapel on the Sunday following GOLOS' death: WILLIAM E. BROWDER, ALEXANDER TRACHTENBERG, V. J. JEROME, A. LANDRY, LOUIS BUDENZ, HERNEY SHUSTER, CHARLES KRUMBEIN, JOSEPH R. BRODSKY, and MR. and MRS. VLADIMIR KAZAKEVICH. It is to be noted that various photographs of GERHART EISLER have been exhibited to Informant GREGORY, but she has been unable to effect any identification; accordingly, she has no information reflecting on his alleged attendance at the funeral. In addition to the persons listed above, she declared that there were present numerous other IWO personalities whom she did not know individually. The individuals enumerated above are of course well known to this office, and reports concerning all of them have been submitted to the Bureau from time to time.

It is also of interest to note that GREGORY declared that shortly after GOLOS' death she telephonically communicated with EARL BROWDER, and after telling him that GOLOS had died, was instructed by BROWDER to call BUDENZ so that appropriate publicity might be arranged for publication in the Daily Worker. GREGORY did contact BUDENZ, who appeared at her office the following day, and apparently thereafter wrote a news item for the Daily Worker inasmuch as an account of GOLOS' death did appear in that publication.

Very truly yours,

MEMORANDUM FOR THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

I have been advised by Mr. Tamm of his conference with you on January 23rd concerning the disposition to be made of the Gregory Case. You requested that I furnish to you my views as to a recommended course of action with consideration given to the possibility of (a) the Bureau continuing its investigation of this case as an intelligence operation, (b) the Bureau or a Federal grand jury interrogating a selected number of the subjects, or (c) that the Department furnish to the employing departments the basic data concerning the activities of the individual subjects in this case in order that the employing departments might take administrative action against those employees who were participants in the operations of this intelligence ring.

As to the first possible course of action, that is, the Bureau continuing its investigation of this case as an intelligence operation, I am of the opinion that in view of the unfortunate publicity given to this case by a Departmental source, it will be impossible to continue the investigation on an intelligence basis. In this regard, information reaching us from our coverage of the activities of these subjects indicates they are now all very security conscious and that a practical coverage of their activities is impossible. Collaterally, I might point out, for your confidential information, that as a result of this premature and ill-advised publicity, the Bureau's key informant has absolutely refused to continue to cooperate with the Bureau. It is needless to point out that without the cooperation of this informant a real coverage of this case is impossible.

Relative to the second suggestion, namely, that the Bureau or a Federal grand jury interrogate a selected number of the subjects, I must point out that this program would appear impractical at this time for the same reasons that I have enumerated above as applying to the first proposal.

I believe that the publicity originating in the Department has placed each of the subjects on notice of the Bureau's knowledge of his activities and that consequently any attempt to interrogate them, either by Bureau agents or before a grand jury, would produce nothing. Obviously, this situation leaves only the third alternative; that is, that the Department furnish to the employing departments the basic data concerning the activities of the individual subjects as a possible means of concluding this case. It is assumed, of course, that the employing departments will take administrative action against the subjects who are employed in these departments. If you desire to follow this course of action, I will arrange to have Bureau supervisors prepare appropriate summations in such form that you may transmit them to the interested government departments. It will, of course, be necessary to exercise some care in the preparation of this material in order that the Bureau's sources of information and modus operandi in this case will not be exposed and the Bureau's coverage of future cases thereby jeopardized.

Reference is made to your communications dated January 20, 28, and 31, 1947, in which you requested to be furnished with copies of investigative reports in this case.

I desire in this connection to call your attention to a conference which was had between you and an official of this Bureau on January 22, 1947, at which time you were informed that in view of recent publicity which accurately related the background in this case and predicted the Department's contemplated course of action in connection with it, the investigative reports in this case would not be furnished to the Criminal Division because of the possibility that some of the material contained therein would be publicized. You indicated at that time that you were in agreement that these investigative reports should not be furnished to the Department for the reasons stated hereinbefore.

In view of the above decision, the investigative reports are not being made available to you.

GREGORY
ESPIONAGE - R
(P. Bernard Mortman)

Reference is made to a letter from the New York Field Division to the Bureau dated January 27, 1947, in the above entitled matter wherein it was stated that Gregory advised that she had met P. Bernard Mortman while she was attending Columbia University in about 1936. She also stated that Mortman and herself at that time were both in Unit One of the Harlem Section of the Communist Party and she stated she saw him very frequently at Communist Party meetings. She stated that from her observations of his activities she believed that he was very active in this unit and could well have been a functionary.

She advised that in about 1937 this unit was split and Nortman became associated with another unit but that she still saw him around Columbia University and knew that he was still active in Communist Party activities. Gregory said that she is positive that Nortman had a Party name which she could not recall.

In connection with the identification of Nortman as a Communist Party member in Unit One of the Harlem Section of the Communist Party and later another unnamed unit while both Gregory and Nortman were attending Columbia University in 1936 and 1937, the New York Office is instructed to exhibit a photograph of Nortman to any available confidential informants who were in the Party during that period in an effort to further identify Nortman as a Party member and particularly to determine his Party name.

Washington Field Division should make an immediate check of the records of the Office of Price Administration where Nortman was employed from February to December 1942; of the Army Service Affairs, War Department, where he was employed from December 1942, to August 1943; of the War Production Board where Nortman was employed from August 1943, to 1945, and the records of the State Department where he is presently employed, in an effort to establish if Nortman signed any application forms or any portions thereof in which he denied that he was a member of the Communist Party or was ever affiliated with the Party.

The Washington Field Division should endeavor to immediately obtain a photograph of P. Bernard Norton and furnish same to the New York Field Division for its assistance in connection with this investigation.

It is desired that this matter be afforded immediate attention.

Pursuant to Mr. Tolson's request as based on a conversation you had had with D. C. Commissioner Guy Mason, the Bureau files were checked under the name of Bernard Redmont and although some criminal data was developed, it could not be identified with a person concerning whom Mason might be interested. Pursuant to Mr. Tolson's instructions, Mr. Mumford called Commissioner Mason for further identifying data. Mr. Mason was very evasive and finally very confidentially advised that the reason for this inquiry was that Bernard Redmont is employed by David Lawrence and he, Mason, had heard rumors that Redmont might be in some way mixed up with the Communists and thought that, therefore, if we had anything in our files he, Mason, should pass it along to David Lawrence, who was one of his very best friends as he was sure Lawrence would not want to have such a person in any way associated with him. In answer to my inquiry as to his source concerning Redmont, he whispered over the phone that he got it from Ambassador Messersmith.

You will recall a memorandum was directed to you on December 24, 1946, advising that Ambassador Messersmith wished an appointment with you and that Special Assistant to the Ambassador, Heber M. Clegg, our representative in Buenos Aires, had advised that Messersmith would undoubtedly raise the question with you concerning Redmont. The Bureau was also contacted concerning Redmont by David Lawrence.

ACTION

Pursuant to Mr. Tolson's instructions, Mr. Mumford has been attempting to locate Commissioner Mason this afternoon to advise him that pursuant to an established policy, the Bureau cannot furnish him information from its files since the request is not for official Government use. Commissioner Mason has been unavailable, however, through his office but he will be contacted and advised the first thing in the morning.

Did the Soviet Government change its code at about this time, namely, between late in 1942 and early in 1943? Is there any other information available to corroborate this allegation?

20 Concerning the allegation that Norman Chandler Bursler of the Antitrust Division furnished reports on German cartels, a more specific description of these reports, if possible, is desired. Is it known whether these reports which Gregory saw at Silvermaster's home could have come from any source other than the Department of Justice?

31) With respect to Michael Greenberg, how does Gregory know that Greenberg was actually giving information?

37) When and where did Joseph B. ~~X~~ Gregg meet Gregory? Did Gregg or the agency by which he was employed actually receive FBI, MID and ONI reports? Has Gregory's allegation in this regard been verified from the standpoint of the availability of such reports to Gregg?

7 (3) Concerning Duncan Chaplin Lee, what is the basis for Gregory's certainty that Lee knew the information which he furnished was going to the Russians?

With reference to Abraham George Silverman and William Ludwig Ullman, it is desired that the specific

p 143 Summary

It has been noticed in your memorandum of October 21, 1946, that in some instances Gregory is indefinite as to time and place of meetings, and in some cases in descriptions of information furnished. Examples of this will be found in the allegations concerning Allen Robert Rosenberg, Donald Niven Wheeler, Joseph B. Gregg, Maurice Halperin, J. Julius Joseph, Bernard Sidney Redmont and others. While I realize that in many instances it will be difficult or impossible for Gregory to remember such details when the transactions occurred several years ago, I believe that even approximate dates and locations would facilitate corroboration. In describing the information furnished by any given individual, it would be of considerable assistance if Gregory could recall the exact information or document furnished as nearly as possible rather than describing the type of information furnished.

SUBJECT: The Gregory Case

Reference is made to the Bureau memorandum dated November 27, 1946, in the above entitled case. A copy of the summary report dated October 21, 1946, which accompanied the reference memorandum was furnished to the Criminal Division on December 6, 1946, and while time has not permitted an opportunity for a detailed analysis of the 296-page report, the following preliminary matters are raised at this time:

(1) A criminal prosecution would, as a practical matter, be out of the question without the testimony of the informant. It is requested that the Criminal Division be advised as to whether the confidential informant designated as Gregory is available as a witness in connection with a possible prosecution of the persons involved in this case.

(2) In the event that Gregory is available as a witness, it is requested that the Criminal Division be informed as soon as possible whether she will be a willing or a reluctant witness, as well as whether there are in existence any known factors, however slight, which would adversely affect her usefulness or reliability as a witness for the Government. Such factors would, of course, include her criminal record, if any; her general business, social and moral background; addiction to alcohol or narcotics; mental and nervous stability or lack of it, etc.; and, in particular, whether the informant bases a willingness to testify on any condition to be performed by the Government, keeping in mind that she will have to be named as a defendant or co-conspirator in the indictment.

✓ (3) In the event that the informant is available, and a tentative decision that this case is susceptible to successful prosecution is arrived at, the Department will request, as soon thereafter as is possible, an opportunity to interview the informant so that a final judgment may be made as to her usefulness as a key witness.

✓ (4) It is assumed that a number of investigative leads have not been pursued in this case because of secrecy requirements. The Criminal Division would appreciate being advised of any investigative possibilities still remaining (excepting those incident to arrest) which would serve to furnish evidence in substantiation of the informant's narrative.

(5) It is assumed that the informant is not in a position to produce any contemporaneous notes concerning the reported activities and that there are no documents in the possession of the informant which could be used as exhibits, but the Criminal Division would appreciate being advised specifically on these points.

(6) It is requested that the Criminal Division be advised as to whether there is in existence any relative, friend or other person (other than the subjects of the case) with whom Golos or the informant may have shared the trust imposed in them which might furnish even incidental corroboration of an evidentiary character concerning the reported meetings, travel, and other activities.

(7) It is requested that the Criminal Division be furnished with the names of Bureau Agents who, having J. N. Golos, the informant, or the other subjects under surveillance in 1941 and thereafter in connection with other matters, observed anything of significance to the present investigation.

(8) It is requested that any mail covers on Golos, the informant, or the other subjects in connection with other matters be reviewed for possible proof of a corroborative nature as to the activities reported by the informant.

(9) It is requested that the Criminal Division be advised as to whether the informant Whitaker Chambers is available as a witness for the Government.

(10) It is requested that descriptions of "John", "Catherine", "Bill" and "Jack" be furnished with particular reference to their nationality, citizenship, and official status, if any.

(11) The summary memorandum contains numerous references to travel performed by the subjects to New York for the purpose of meetings, etc. We would appreciate being advised whether the leave and travel records of the particular employees in question have been examined to corroborate Gregory's allegations. Since many of the agencies are temporary in nature and the employees have, in some instances, resigned from Government service, it is suggested that such examination be conducted at the earliest practical moment.

It will be recalled that information has been reported by this division reflecting that the United States Service and Shipping Corporation, 212 Fifth Avenue, New York City, discontinued, effective October 31, 1946, its business of receiving parcels for shipment to the USSR. Attention is directed to page 43 of the Report of Special Agent JOHN T. HILSBOS dated November 21, 1946 at New York City on the captioned matter wherein it is mentioned that HENRY D. MAHLER, proprietor of the Mahler Exterminating Company, 500 East 164th Street, Bronx, New York, has entered into a contract with Intourist, Moscow, for the shipping of parcels to Russia.

Since submission of the above-mentioned report, it has been learned that similar contracts have been negotiated by the New York Office of the Amtorg Trading Corporation for and in the name of Intourist, with the Amalgamated Bank of Chicago; the Pennsylvania Company, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; World Tourists Inc.; and Hearn's Department Store, New York City.

Although Confidential Informant GREGORY has not seen the new contracts concluded by Amtorg, she has been told by LOUIS BERDANSKY of World Tourists Inc. that they are very similar to the agreement formerly existing between the United States Service and Shipping Corporation and Intourist, particularly that they provide for collection by the American firms of Soviet import duties for remittance to the Russian Government; it is believed they also provide that exclusive control over all advertising done by such firms with respect to their ^{partial} business, is invested in Intourist. The feature concerning the collection of Soviet import duties appears to have been one of the compelling reasons for the decision of the Foreign Agents Registration Section of the Department of Justice that the United States Service and Shipping Corporation should register as an agent of a foreign principal. It will be recalled that details of the conferences between representatives of United States Service and Shipping Corporation and the Department, were furnished by New York letter dated October 7, 1946.

It is accordingly suggested that the Foreign Agents Registration Section of the Department be informed of the contracts recently entered into by the above-named American concerns with Intourist, with a view towards compelling their registration as agents of a foreign principal. It will of course be recalled that World Tourists Inc. was operated by JACOB N. GOLOS, until his death and since that time has been operated and controlled by known Communists in New York City.

Letter to the Director

December 13, 1946

With respect to HENRY D. MAHLER, a review of the files of this office reflect that this individual made two rather unspecific complaints about individuals in New York whom he alleged to be pro-Nazi. On the occasion of furnishing one of these complaints, MAHLER claimed that he resided at the Bretton Hall Hotel, New York City, and that he was in the Coast Guard Reserve.

Concerning the Pennsylvania Company, Gregory has advised that this concern is a long established firm, enjoys a very high reputation, and further, that she was told by a MR. FRIEDMAN, manager of its foreign division, that he would have no objection to registering as an agent of a foreign principal if the Department advised it would be necessary. Hearn's Department Store is, of course, a large and well known merchantile organization in New York, and the Amalgamated Bank of Chicago is believed to be connected with the bank of the same name in New York which is well known to the Bureau as the depository used by many Communists in this area.

Further reference is made to letters from the Washington Field Division to the Bureau dated December 13, 1946, and January 7, 1947.

In an effort to determine if an individual by the name of JULES KORCHIEN was employed by the Navy on any of its engineering or architectural jobs in the Norfolk area during 1942 or 1943, the following investigation was conducted.

Mr. GASTON A. FORTIN, Chief of Police, Naval Air Station, Norfolk, Virginia, who was previously civilian Security Officer at the Naval Air Station, in which capacity he had the records of all civilian employees of the Naval Air Station, as well as those of the Virginia Engineering Company, during the period of 1942 and 1943, checked his records against the name of JULES and JULIUS KORCHIEN with negative results.

No lead is being set forth for the Baltimore Field Division to check with the Army as all information available to the Norfolk Field Division reflects that the subject was reportedly employed by the Navy, and it is not known what information concerning this case has been furnished to the Baltimore Field Division. Therefore, any lead to check with the Second Corps Area Army Intelligence office at Baltimore is being left to the discretion of the office of origin.

An appropriate file review in the Norfolk Field Division failed to disclose any possible espionage parallel of engineers in Norfolk, Virginia, during 1942 or 1943 who could be identical with the group mentioned in referenced Bureau letter.

Inasmuch as there is no further investigation to be conducted in this field division at the present time, this case is being considered referred upon completion to the office of origin.

allowance stating in his application for these benefits that he needed the money to help his family while he was in the Service. He then listed his wife, Mrs. BEATRICE SABAROFF, who earns about $20. per week, his mother, Mrs. EMMA SABAROFF, his father HYMAN L. SABAROFF, and a sister, MILDRED SABAROFF, the last three of 2542 North Hollywood Street, Philadelphia. He said his father earned about $15. per week and that he contributed substantially to the support of his parents.

While working for DPA he was stationed at the Lehigh Office, which is now closed. He had a very good record, receiving very high ratings. Nothing detrimental appears in his file and he was promoted in absentia on October 16, 1942. From time to time he reported back to DPA as to his present whereabouts. He originally advised them that he was attached to the 103 Ordnance Company, M. Special Troops. On October 15, 1946 the DPA received a letter from his wife advising that Captain ALBERT R. SABAROFF is now stationed at Heidenheim Ordnance Tech. Ing. Center, Heidenheim, Germany.

The surveillance was taken over by Agents of the Philadelphia Office. ELKUSS left the residence of 1936 69th Avenue, at 11:10 A.M. on February 6, 1947 carrying his brief case and a copy of PM Newspaper. He proceeded via public transportation to the Pennsylvania Railroad Suburban Station where while awaiting a train he called Philadelphia telephone number Rittenhouse 6-8765. It has been ascertained that this telephone is listed to Mrs. THEODORE L. HARRISON, Jr. and to GLADYS McC. BALDI, both at 1733 Walnut Street. ELKUSS was over-heard to say during his telephone conversation that he desired to see the person to whom he was speaking and he identified himself. Special Agent WILLIAM B. WELTE, Jr. of this office over-heard ELKUSS partially spelling his name saying that it was "ELK". ELKUSS then took the 12:30 P.M. train to Bryn Mawr, Pa. whereupon arriving there he went to the campus of Bryn Mawr College. He contacted, presumably, three students of Bryn Mawr College at the Rhodes Dormitory and the four individuals proceeded about the campus to the various buildings. During the course of the surveillance ELKUSS was seen to post a number of letters.

DECLASSIFIED BY SP-5 RTO/ML
ON 5-13-83

Dear Sir:

Please refer to telephone call from Assistant Special Agent in Charge A. H. Belmont of this Division to Assistant Director D. M. Ladd on December 26, 1946, concerning the visit to this office of Assistant Attorney General James McInerney concerning the captioned matter. In accordance with Mr. Ladd's instructions of that date, and those subsequently received from Mr. J. K. Mumford, a copy of the signed statement executed by Confidential Informant GREGORY on November 30, 1945, was not made available to Mr. McInerney, but on the following day a conference was held in the New York Office on this case, and in attendance were Mr. Mumford, Mr. McInerney, and Special Agents A. J. Tuohy, T. G. Spencer, J. T. Hilsbos, and J. M. Kelly.

Prior to the commencement of this conference, Mr. Mumford advised that Mr. McInerney was in possession of the summaries in this case prepared by the Bureau dated February 21, 1946, and October 21, 1946, but that he was not believed to know the identity of Confidential Informant GREGORY and was not to be apprised by agents as to the identity of the informant. Also prior to the conference, Mr. Mumford explained that Mr. McInerney was desirous of obtaining agents' opinion as to whether GREGORY would be a willing or reluctant witness; whether there were any factors which might adversely affect her usefulness or reliability as a witness; and generally how much could be expected of her in the role of a witness in the event prosecution were instituted in this matter.

At the conference on December 27, 1946, Mr. McInerney ~~presented~~ Agents Spencer and Kelly in detail as to their impressions of GREGORY and whether they had observed anything in her history, makeup, or behavior which he should know in considering her as a potential witness. He was informed that in agents' opinion GREGORY is a highly intelligent and intellectual person whose reliability would seem to have been established beyond doubt; further, that she is a rather plain looking person who is not particularly meticulous in her dress or appearance. In addition, he was told that she answers questions in a rapid, unhesitant style, is a woman of rather positive convictions, and that there is nothing vacillating in her statements on any matters of which she has knowledge. Mr. McInerney also made inquiry of informant's present employment and financial situation, and was told that the U. S. Service and Shipping Corporation, by which informant is presently employed, ceased active business October 31, 1946, and that she probably would continue to be engaged in liquidating its affairs until approximately March 1, 1947. Concerning her personal finances, he was told that although she has been receiving a very good salary, she is not of a particularly provident nature and has been virtually living up to her income; it was pointed out, however, that she recently received a $2,000 Christmas bonus and in addition JOHN H. REYNOLDS, President of her firm, has assured her that upon completion of her work she will receive a bonus equal to a year's salary. Mr. McNerney was also informed that she has no private income other than that received from her employment and is entirely self-supporting, and probably has accumulated only a small savings. Mr. McNerney was also told that informant had no history of drug or alcoholic addictions, had never been arrested, and was believed to be a woman of reasonably good reputation, although her relationship with JACOB N. GOLOS was mentioned in this latter regard.

Mr. McNerney inquired as to whether the informant had been asked directly whether, because of her activities in this matter, she would consider herself as criminally liable, specifically either as a co-conspirator or a co-defendant. He was informed that at the time she was initially interviewed she was fully aware of her participation in these espionage activities, but that since these initial inquiries were made in November, 1945, it would be difficult to state just what her opinion would be at this time. It was suggested that this matter be taken up at some future time with the informant so as to give him a definite impression of what her thoughts in this matter were. Mr. McNerney then suggested that the informant be interviewed as to what her reactions would be in the event that she would be considered as a co-defendant or a co-conspirator, and further suggested that she also be asked if she would be receptive to being interviewed by a representative of the Department of Justice. Mr. McNerney was informed that this would be done and he would be so advised.

During this conference Mr. McNerney inquired whether GREGORY was able to corroborate any of her allegations by notes or other documentary evidence, and was informed that she never made any notes relating to her activities and that she had never been in permanent possession of any of the written material she described as having been passed by various subjects she named. He also asked if the majority of the persons concerned in securing information in this case were Governmental employees or in private employment, and was told that for the most part the individuals concerned were employees of the Government, at least during the pertinent period.

Mr. McNerney expressed no opinion as to possible prosecution in this case, but did remark that it would be most helpful if some corroboration could be secured of the statements made by GREGORY. He asked if the agents handling the matter had any particular individuals in mind who might most easily be induced to reveal their part in the affair, in order that some corroboration might be thereby secured, and inquired specifically concerning

New York, N. Y.

MARY PRICE and HELEN TENNEY. It was pointed out to him that the latter was felt to be a rather weak individual but had an unquestionable background, while MARY PRICE is known still to be Communist-minded and probably would not be receptive to a Bureau interview. He made the observation that undoubtedly the matter had received full consideration but that questions of security had foreclosed the possibility of interviews on a broad scale, and no further discussion on this particular point was had.

On January 3, 1947, Assistant Special Agent in Charge Belmont telephonically informed Mr. Mumford that Informant GREGORY would not be available for further questioning until January 6, 1947, at which time her attitude as to possible prosecution in this case, as well as to a conference with a representative of the Attorney General, would be secured. On the latter date GREGORY was interviewed by Special Agents Spencer and Kelly and was told that the prosecutive possibilities of this matter were presently receiving consideration and that necessarily it had to be determined whether she would be willing to be named either as a co-conspirator or a co-defendant in the event prosecution resulted. She commented that she had not given any thought to this eventuality for some time, and in response to her question as to the difference between a co-conspirator and a co-defendant, was appropriately advised. She then asked what the effect of such a prosecution would be on the persons whose activities she has described to the Bureau and whether or not a salutary effect might result if these persons were prosecuted and the public thereby shown the extent of pro-Russian Communist infiltration into the various agencies of this Government. Agents informed GREGORY that the persons indicted as co-defendants would, if convicted, be subject to statutory penalties for the violations specified against them, and with respect to the overall effect of any prosecution it was pointed out to her that she has sufficient experience and intelligence to appraise the situation and draw her own conclusions. At the outset of this conference with GREGORY she was again reminded that the Bureau's function in this matter was to ascertain all available and pertinent data and that any prosecution was within the province of the Department of Justice, acting upon information secured by this Bureau. When she asked for the opinions of Special Agents Spencer and Kelly as to what position she should take with respect to her possible involvement as a co-conspirator or co-defendant, she was told that neither could furnish any opinion whatsoever and that it was a matter strictly for her own decision.

GREGORY expressed concern over her personal safety and her economic future in the event that this case went to trial, and was also apprehensive that both her own and her relatives' reputation might suffer therefrom. In response to her inquiry along these lines, she was told simply that no assurances could or would be made by the Bureau with respect to these matters. Also on the occasion of this conference she was told that a representative of the Department of Justice might desire to have a conference with her concerning this case in the event she agreed to such an interview, and she declared that she had no objection. She declined to state definitely on this occasion what her reaction would be towards being named as a co-conspirator or co-defendant, remarking that it was a serious matter to which she desired to give further thought, but did state that her mind would be made up in the immediate future.

At 4:20 p.m. on January 6, 1947, Special Agent in Charge Scheidt was telephonically informed by Assistant Director Ladd that with reference to the proposed conference between Mr. McInerney and Informant GREGORY, the Director had instructed that prior to such conference, GREGORY should be fully apprised of Mr. McInerney's identity and official capacity, and that if she assented to the proposed interview, appropriate arrangements could be made, directing that space in the New York Office could be made available to Mr. McInerney if it has been the practice in the past to interview GREGORY in the office. Special Agent in Charge Scheidt was also instructed that no Bureau agent was to be present during the interview, and that Mr. McInerney should be informed that the interview would be arranged with the understanding that the Department would have to assume responsibility for any possible leak that might result from the interview.

Later that same day Mr. McInerney appeared at the New York Field Office, and was informed by Special Agent in Charge Scheidt of the Bureau's request in connection with any interview that might be had between Mr. McInerney and Informant GREGORY. At a subsequent conference that day among Special Agent in Charge Scheidt, Assistant Special Agent in Charge Belmont, Mr. McInerney, and Special Agents Spencer and Kelly, the agents reported that GREGORY had not made a definite commitment as to her attitude concerning prosecution, but would reach a decision probably the following day. It was also reported that GREGORY was agreeable to a conference with a representative of the Department, and Mr. McInerney thereupon requested that space for such interview be made available in the New York Office, preferably for 1:30 p.m. on January 7, 1947. It was arranged that GREGORY would be contacted the following morning to learn if she would be available at that time.

On the morning of January 7, 1947, Mr. McInerney made inquiry of the agents whether GREGORY was cognizant of the true identity of all persons whose activities she has described in this matter, and was told that with the exception, of course, of the unidentified subjects JACK, BILL, and CATHERINE, she was aware of the identities of all involved except "AL" (A. B. GROMOV) and Dr. ABRAHAM B. WEINSTEIN, possibly identical with the unknown dentist "CHARLIE."

Informant GREGORY, on the morning of January 7, 1947, advised that she would be available for interview later that day, and accordingly she was brought to the New York Office at 1:30 p.m. En route to the office she was plainly informed of Mr. McInerney's identity and official capacity.

New York, N. Y.

In accordance with the above-outlined arrangements, Mr. McInerney interviewed GREGORY from 1:30 p.m. to 4:50 p.m. in the New York Office with no agents present, and upon the conclusion of such interview, he informed Assistant Special Agent in Charge Belmont and Special Agent Spencer that he had been very favorably impressed by GREGORY as an intelligent woman who would make a good witness. He also declared he had discussed at length with her the proposition of her being named either as a co-conspirator or co-defendant, and that she had told him she would agree to the former but would not consent to being named a co-defendant. Mr. McInerney volunteered the information that he was considering the prosecution on a fraud against the Government angle, pointing out that much of the information gathered by subjects in this case was secured during the regular course of their employment by the Government, and thus that the Government was being deprived of the full benefit of these persons' services during the period of their respective employment. Mr. McInerney declared that he had completed his mission with GREGORY for the time being at least, and in the event he desired to see her again he would so notify the Bureau.

After the above-described interview was terminated, GREGORY was escorted from the New York Office by Special Agent Kelly, who learned from her that she had been favorably impressed by the conference, and she was not at all frightened by the prospect of prosecution. She indicated the interview was concerned mainly with her own prosecutive status and that Mr. McInerney explored with her the possibility of securing some type of corroboration of her allegations.

At 5:45 p.m. Assistant Special Agent in Charge Belmont telephonically furnished a summary of the latest developments in this matter to Assistant Director Ladd, and in conversation with Mr. Mumford pointed out with reference to Bureau letter in this matter dated December 30, 1946, that some of the questions prepared by the Department and incorporated in that letter perhaps had become moot inasmuch as the Department had not read GREGORY'S signed statement at the time the questions were prepared, and that some of the inquiries were answered therein. It was pointed out by Mr. Belmont that Mr. McInerney was aware of this condition and had indicated a desire to confer on January 8, 1947, with this office so that superfluous investigation and file reviews might be eliminated. Mr. Mumford indicated that the Bureau had no objection to this latter proposal.

At a conference on January 8, 1947, Mr. McInerney reviewed with Assistant Special Agent in Charge Belmont and Agents Spencer and Kelly the thirty-six questions which he had previously communicated to the Bureau, and pointed out that since his reading of GREGORY'S statement and his interview with her he felt that the following changes in his original questions and suggestions should be made:

65-14603

New York, N. Y.

Questions 1, 2, and 3 - these matters were taken care of by his interview.

With reference to question 4, Mr. McInerney inquired whether there were any lines or fields of investigative possibilities which had been held in abeyance for security reasons, and was informed that there was none but that of course there were individual leads which had not been covered because of possible jeopardy to the case.

Mr. McInerney stated that he had exhausted the possibilities outlined in questions 5 and 6, and concerning questions 7 and 8 was informed that the requests therein outlined are presently being handled.

Mr. McInerney was advised that Informant GREGORY would be questioned in detail concerning the second part of question 21, as well as the first part of question 22. He requested that question 23 be handled as originally stated, and asked that the further inquiry of GREGORY concerning NORMAN CHANDLER BURSLE set out in question 30 should be disregarded.

Questions 31 and the first portion of question 32 will be handled through further questioning of GREGORY, but question 33 is to be disregarded.

Mr. McInerney requested that questions 34 and 35 be handled, and that with respect to question 36 he was very desirous of securing all possible collateral details concerning the physical facts surrounding GREGORY'S activities as they related to individual subjects. He mentioned, for instance, that it would greatly facilitate interrogation of the subjects if when they were confronted with various allegations as to their conduct, the interrogator could have at hand such information as precise physical facts concerning the meetings allegedly attended by the various subjects, inasmuch as if it were demonstrated to a subject that the Government was in full possession of all facts it would probably result in a more successful interview. Mr. McInerney observed that he appreciated the difficulties involved in handling a request of this nature, but requested that all reasonable efforts should be expended because of the assistance it would render in the event of prosecution.

Mr. McInerney also remarked, in amplifying his earlier statement that he was considering a prosecution on a fraud against the Government angle, that there might be an analogy between the facts of instant case and the prosecution of Judge MARTIN T. MANTON, inasmuch as the allegations there were that the United States Government was deprived of the full benefit of his honest services, and mentioned that he knew of a Supreme Court decision involving a Department of Agriculture employee who had been prosecuted in 1912 on these grounds because he had been devoting some of his official time to the abstraction and obtaining of crop information and turning it over to outside persons.

Very truly yours,

Edward Scheidt

Reference is made to your letter of December 30, 1946, to this office in the above-captioned case.

In Paragraph 12 of this letter, the Washington Field Office was requested to determine when in 1941 LAUCHLIN CURRIE was named the Head of the Economic Commission to China; when he departed for China in 1941 and again in 1942; when he apparently left for China on a diplomatic mission as the President's personal representative; and in what agency he was appointed as Acting Deputy Administrator in early September of 1943.

An article appeared in the New York Times on January 23, 1941, stating that LAUCHLIN CURRIE, Administrative Assistant to the President, was leaving on January 28, 1941, for Chungking, China, to secure first-hand information on the economic conditions in China, to consult with Chinese leaders and extend to CHIANG KAI-SHEK the President's personal greetings. CURRIE was accompanied by EMILY DESPRESS of the Federal Reserve Board. A later article dated March 11, 1941, reported that CURRIE had just returned from China after having had three weeks of conferences with CHIANG KAI-SHEK. He also had found time to study China's arsenals, military training schools and industrial cooperatives.

G. I. R. -8

The New York Times reported on September 1, 1943, that LEO CROWLEY had borrowed LAUCHLIN CURRIE, Presidential Aide, to be an executive official of the Board of Economic Warfare. On October 27, 1943, it was further reported that CROWLEY had consolidated the war economic agencies which consisted of the Board of Economic Warfare, the Lend-Lease, the Office of Foreign Relief and Rehabilitation and the Foreign Procurement Division. The new agency would be known as the Foreign Economic Administration. LAUCHLIN CURRIE was appointed as Deputy Administrator of this new agency.

Further reference is made to my memorandum to you in the above case dated December 12, 1946, summarizing for your information and pursuant to your request recent developments in connection with the investigation of Philip Olin Keeney and Mary Jane Keeney, who, you will recall, have been extremely active in connection with the Gregory case and are strongly suspected of deep implication in Soviet espionage activities.

From my referenced memorandum, you will recall, that in September 1945, Philip Olin Keeney departed for Japan on a nine months' assignment as a civilian employee of GHQ, SCAP. You will also recall that he only recently returned to the United States and that he plans to depart again for Japan shortly after January 1, 1947, to continue his employment there for an additional two years. In addition, you will recall that after he returns to Japan Philip Olin Keeney intends to arrange for Mary Jane Keeney, who is presently unemployed to join him in Japan as the wife of a civilian employee of the Army.

From the information contained in the diaries of Mary Jane Keeney and in her correspondence with Philip Olin Keeney as reported by a highly confidential informant, it is known that during 1944 and 1945 the Keeney's were in frequent contact with an individual known as Colonel Thomas, who, from the context of this material, may well have occupied a commanding position in either Soviet Intelligence or International Communist activities. It has not yet been possible to identify Colonel Thomas, although every effort is being exerted to do so. In letters to Mary Jane Keeney, Philip Olin Keeney has mentioned that Colonel Thomas advised him that his job in Japan was of great importance and apparent Thomas convinced Keeney that the opportunity to go to Japan could be utilized to do important work. It is believed that this refers to the most important objective of the Keeney's, which is known to be the furtherance of Communist organization and Soviet objectives.

It is strongly believed in view of the above factors and in view of the present tense situation in Japan with regard to conflict between the United States and Soviet authorities that Philip Olin Keeney should not be permitted to return to his assignment in Japan and that he should not be permitted to arrange for Mary Jane Keeney to join him there, inasmuch as both the Keeney's might well be in a position to do considerable injury to United States interests in view of their Communist ideology and affiliations and their known pro-Soviet orientation.

Action:

If you approve, it is suggested that this matter be discussed with the War Department and that it be suggested to the War Department that they might desire to cancel Keeney's further assignment June 18 1947

Reference is made to your memorandum to the Director in the above captioned matter which indicated that Philip Olin Keeney had been employed as a civilian employee of GHQ, SCAP in Japan. It also indicated that Keeney had returned to this country on leave and is expecting to return to Japan in the immediate future. The memorandum indicated that Keeney anticipated perfecting arrangements whereby his wife could join him in Japan as the wife of a civilian employee of the War Department. Your memorandum pointed out that in view of the present tense situation in Japan with regard to confliction between the United States and Soviet authorities, that it did not appear judicious that these two individuals be permitted to go to Japan.

As you are aware, summaries in the Gregory case have been made available to Colonel Forney and Colonel Forney makes no dissemination of any of the information contained in these reports. He will take no action for fear of prejudicing the Bureau's interest in the Gregory case.

RECOMMENDATION

It is recommended that consideration be given as to just how far the Bureau desires Colonel Forney to go in having Philip Olin Keeney discharged from his position with AFPAC and arrangements perfected whereby Mary Jane Keeney cannot go to Tokyo. Colonel Forney advised Reynolds that he would take no further action in this matter until advised by the Bureau.

ADDENDUM

In view of the above circumstances, it is suggested that the War Department consider handling the case of Philip Olin Keeney, who is a civilian employee of the War Department in Japan, under Public Law 808, which provides that the War or Navy Departments can discharge any civilian employee who is a security risk without hearing.

If such action is possible, any information which Colonel Forney and the War Department desires concerning Philip Keeney will be made available to them upon request.

It is further suggested that Liaison place a stop with the State Department against Mary Jane Keeney in the event she applies for a passport to join her husband in Japan.

It was requested that if the War Department was willing, the Bureau would furnish to Colonel Forney any information that he desired upon request.

Colonel Forney was advised that a summary on the Keeneys would be procured as soon as possible and made available to him.

The reasons for the above possibilities are as follows:

- a. GREGORY states she met these men approximately two months after early 1944.
- b. GREGORY states that when she met this group in New York City MAGDOFF had just returned from a period of approximately six month's hospitalization and expected to return to the War Production Board.

The day of Sunday is selected as a possibility for the following reasons:

1. At that time the War Production Board was on a six-day week.
2.  Refer

It is not considered that the information presently available concerning him warrants the institution of an investigation in the United States and Canada, particularly in view of his diplomatic status. The only significant material casting any reflection upon him is his contact with Bernard S. Redmont of the Gregory Case, and in this connection it would be normal for Redmont, a representative of the news magazine "World Report" to contact the Press Attache of the American Embassy while visiting in Brazil. There follows the results of a search of the Bureau files concerning the captioned individual, Press Attache of the American Embassy in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil:

An investigation of Kurt G. Ball, former contact between the German Embassy in Washington and the United States Press, revealed that he was extremely active on behalf of the German Nazi Party. On March 2, 1939, he planned a farewell party for Associated Press Correspondent, Charles E. Rutter, who was being transferred from Washington to New Orleans, Louisiana. The invitation list included William A. Wieland, Associated Press Correspondent, residing on Elm Street, Nelson, Virginia.

In 1941, one William Fredericks employed by the John H. Ryan Construction Company, Beaver County, Midland, Pennsylvania, was reported to have engaged in suspicious letter writing while residing in Wickford, Rhode Island, from April to August, 1941, during the construction of a Federal Housing Project. Investigation of him failed to reveal any subversive activity; however, during the investigation a maid in the rooming house of Fredericks in Wickford made available a letter dated May 29, 1941, from "Mary" in Miami, Florida, to Fredericks. The letter was on the stationery of the Miami Beach Travel Bureau, Roney Plaza Building, 2335 Collins Avenue, Miami Beach, and principally concerned the work of the writer in arranging tours to Havana, Cuba. One paragraph of the letter was as follows: "I am sending an article out out of this morning's paper--good for Arthur Montenegro--guess he goes by Wm A Wieland now all the time. He seems to be making good." (100-50396-1)

In connection with the above-mentioned letter of May 29, 1941, to William Fredericks, no information is available regarding the name Arthur Montenegro. There are references to Arturo Alvarez Montenegro, an Attache of the Argentine Legation in Lisbon, Portugal, who was alleged to have been a contact of the German Intelligence Service during World War II. As of December, 1943, Arturo Montenegro Lemus was employed by the Banco Germanico in Santiago, Chile. It is noted that a person of the same name about forty-five to fifty years of age is a writer for the Leftist magazine "Tiempo en Cuba" in Havana. His wife is Emma Perez Teller de Montenegro, a writer for the same magazine. These persons became affiliated with the Communist Party in Cuba about 1931 but were expelled in August, 1945, due to attacks upon the Party and the Party line. They have continued, however, to follow what they consider as "true Communist doctrines." It is possible that Wisland may have had some contact with these writers during his residence in Cuba and thereby adopted the name Carlos Montenegro for his own purposes. (65-100-343812) mlec

Rio de Janeiro letter of October 30, 1946, concerning Wieland indicated that he has a sister, Dorothy Wieland, at 5409 Talbot Street, Q Gardens, Long Island, New York. The Bureau files contain no information which could be identified with her. It is observed, however, that in 1944, Dorothea Elisabeth Wieland was the wife of Wilhelm Friedrich Teichmann of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. She was born April 22, 1905, in Berlin, Germany, and had resided in the United States since March 10, 1925. Her only brother was listed as Fred Wieland, Pine Camp, New York. Re: GREGORY

G. I. R. - 5

Dear Sir:

Reference is made to the Bureau's letter of January 7, 1947, suggesting that Confidential Informant GREGORY be interviewed concerning various individuals employed by the State Department who have been known to have been associated with the various subjects in the GREGORY case at Washington, D. C., as well as other information concerning the infiltration of Russian Communists and espionage agents into that agency. CW 1-8

Confidential Informant GREGORY was shown photographs of MINTER WOOD and his former wife, JULIA DORN HEIDMAN, but she was unable to make an identification. In connection with any knowledge that GREGORY might have of MINTER WOOD, she stated that she recalls MINTER WOOD'S name was mentioned by JOSEPH GREGG, ROBERT T. MILLER, MAURICE HALPERIN, and WILLARD Z. PARK. She indicated that these individuals talked about him as a possible candidate to obtain information during the course of his Government employment, but decided against approaching him because he was employed in the office of CIAA in a subordinate position to both GREGG and MILLER and therefore felt that he would not be able to furnish anything that they themselves could not obtain. GREGG and MILLER also were undecided as to whether WOOD was in sympathy with the Communist movement, but did feel that although he probably was not a Communist Party member he was at least a liberal. GREGORY stated that it is her positive knowledge that GREGG, MILLER, HALPERIN, and PARK never, insofar as she knows, contacted WOOD, and further that she is positive that she never received any information that she could directly attribute to him. She had no information whatsoever concerning WOOD'S former wife, JULIA DORN HEIDMAN. DUE

In connection with P. BERNARD NORTMAN, GREGORY advised that she first met this individual while she was attending Columbia University in about 1936. She stated that NORTMAN and herself at that time were both in Unit I of the Harlem Section of the Communist Party and she saw him very frequently at Communist Party meetings, and from her observation of his activities she believed that he was very active in this particular unit and could well have been a functionary. She stated that in about 1937 this unit was split and NORTMAN became associated with another unit, but that she still saw him around Columbia University and knew that he was still active in Communist Party activities. Although her recollection is positive that NORTMAN had a Party name, she is presently unable to recall it. GREGORY stated that

COPIES DESTROYED 11/13/58

file 5
2nd

she last saw NORTMAN at Columbia in about 1938, and thereafter did not see him until the Spring of 1944. The occasion of this meeting was while she was en route from Washington, D. C., to New York City by train, when she accidentally met him in the buffet car. According to her, he seemed very surprised to see her, and although there was considerable conversation between them until NORTMAN left the train, probably at Philadelphia, GREGORY declares NORTMAN was very careful in his talk, that the conversation was wholly innocuous, no reference being made to former Party activities on the part of either, and GREGORY said that NORTMAN seemed quite perturbed when he told her he was at that time with the War Production Board, and GREGORY answered that she occasionally heard reports about him.

Personal
GREGORY advised that in connection with WOODROW WILSON BORAH, she never actually saw this individual, but did recall that ROBERT MILLER referred to him as a very good worker, a liberal, but not the type of individual that could be used in obtaining information for the group. It is informant's recollection that MILLER determined that BORAH was not a member of the Communist Party. She further stated that she has never received any information that she could definitely state came from the activities of BORAH during his Government employment.

With reference to ROBERT and PATRICIA BARNETT, HUBERT C. BARTON, JOHN C. ROSS, IRVING and HANNAH GOLDMAN, and PHILIP RAINE, GREGORY stated that these names were entirely unfamiliar to her.

In connection with the Bureau's request for information that GREGORY might have concerning the infiltration of Communist and Soviet espionage agents into the State Department, she stated that she first became aware of the Soviets' consideration of this matter in the Spring of 1943. At this time she was actively engaged with JACOB GOLOS in obtaining espionage information, and during a conversation he had with her at about this time he remarked that the State Department would be a good place in which to concentrate activities, but added that it would probably be extremely difficult to have any of their people placed in that agency. Even at this time it was GOLOS' impression that probably the two most important agencies of the Government, insofar as their work was concerned, were the State Department and the War Department and its various branches. The informant stated that during the numerous conferences she had with GOLOS the matter of placing their people was talked over at length, and on numerous occasions he informed her that in the event any of their people, because of the collapse of some Government agency or for another reason, lost their jobs, an attempt should be made to place these people in the State Department if their educational backgrounds and other qualifications fitted them for such a position. The informant stated that she took this problem seriously, and as a matter of fact concentrated her efforts in attempting to have people placed in the State Department. She recalls specifically that when there were indications that the CIAA was about to be liquidated she counseled JOSEPH GREGG and told him that every effort should be made on his part to obtain a position in the State Department. It is interesting to note that investigation of GREGG'S activities in Washington does indicate that after he left the CIAA he did, as a matter of fact, attempt to gain employment with the State Department.

Continuing, the informant stated that at the time when HELEN TENNEY was employed by the Office of Strategic Services and there was some indication that this agency might cut its personnel, she told TENNEY that if she were released from her employment she should attempt to obtain a position with the State Department. As a matter of fact, after GOLOS' death she stated that her contacts, BILL and JACK, had also informed her that they were very desirous of placing people in the State Department, and that she should make every effort to have any of her people who had the proper qualifications make application for a position with the State Department. The informant recalls that she also talked to VICTOR PERLO about the possibilities of his obtaining employment with the State Department, but PERLO indicated that he had no desire to work for this agency of the Government. The only individual that she knew who actually did obtain employment with the State Department was ROBERT MILLER, and she informed that prior to his gaining this employment she had told him on several occasions that it would be advantageous if he were able to obtain such employment. She remarked, however, that although he had been a source of information for the Russians prior to his employment with the Department of State, he ceased giving her information at the time he was actually employed by the State Department, and positively states that during the time that MILLER was so employed and she was contacting him he did not give her any information whatsoever.

The informant further recalled that after she had been put in touch with her contact AL (ANATOLI GROMOV), in some of the conversations she had with him he also stressed the desirability of placing reliable persons in the Department of State. In connection with the type of information that the Russians were desirous of obtaining from this agency, she stated that in her conversations with GOLOS, JACK, BILL, and AL, they all expressed a keen interest in obtaining any political information that could be obtained from the Department of State, but were more particularly desirous of obtaining factual information concerning American policy as it affected Russia, the Balkans, and Lithuania. As a practical matter, she was instructed that if she had a contact in the State Department she was to determine just what position this individual had and what material he had access to, and that after learning this she or her contacts would instruct this individual as to just what to look for and what was important. The Russians were desirous of obtaining original documents wherever possible, but if this could not be done they would settle for the information in any form whatsoever.

Although GREGORY had numerous general discussions concerning the State Department and the people employed therein with the SILVERMASTER group, the PERLO group, and others, she cannot recall any of these individuals who were in direct contact with any employees of this agency, and therefore is unable to state any persons so employed who were "sympathetic, reasonable, or favorable" to the Soviet activities or the Soviet viewpoint. GREGORY stated that a great deal of the information she obtained during the time she was collecting data from the various people in this espionage group came originally from the State Department, but that it was information that the State Department had disseminated to other Government agencies where her contacts were able to obtain it. She definitely stated that she does not recall ever having received any information that came to her directly from the Department of State. In connection with any organized system that the Russians had in dealing with the infiltration or the obtaining of information from State Department employees, she stated that she had never heard of any system as such. She reiterated her opinion that there probably was no unit or group infiltration because the Russians always felt that each individual should know nothing or as little as possible about similar activities being carried on by others in the same field, inasmuch as one weak link in any system might lead to disclosure of all personnel so involved. The informant stated that there was no training program insofar as the individual employees of any Governmental organization was concerned, but did state that the people such as JACK, BILL, CATHERINE, and those to whom they turned over their information were very definitely schooled and trained in espionage work.

Very truly yours,

Edward Scheidt

Reference is made to the attached memoranda from E. P. Morgan to Mr. Clegg dated January 14, 1947, and from me to you dated January 8, 1947, which bear your penned notation to the effect that they should be placed in your folder on this case. The reason these memoranda were not placed in your folder in this case by the Internal Security Section is that we do not maintain a folder in this case in the Section. However, the summary in this case, which is maintained in a current status pursuant to your instructions, is maintained in your office and is borrowed periodically in order to bring it up to date and is immediately returned to your office on the same date. The last time this was brought up to date it was turned over personally to Mr. Nease and it has not been taken from your office since.

For the reasons explained above, you will note that these memoranda were returned from this Section to Mr. Nease for filing in whatever folder is maintained in your office on this case.

Mr. Gus Vanech telephoned to state that Mr. Foley, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, has telephonically informed the Attorney General that the report which the Bureau furnished to the Treasury Department in the Gregory Case some months ago has been found in a safe in the Treasury Department. You will recall this is the report which was furnished to Secretary Vinson and was apparently lost by him.

Although the Attorney General indicated to Mr. Vanech that Foley was in possession of some additional information in this case which he desired to have verified, when Mr. Vanech talked to Mr. Foley in accord with the Attorney General's instructions Foley had nothing more to contribute except to state that the Treasury desired to have furnished to it everything relating to its own employees which occurred subsequent to the date of this report. I told Mr. Vanech that in accord with the Attorney General's instructions, the Bureau was presently preparing memoranda upon each of the persons still employed in the government service for transmission to the employing department and that we were endeavoring to furnish this information to the Attorney General by Wednesday of this week.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR

I have talked to Gus Vanech on several occasions endeavoring to have him obtain from Foley the copy of the summary in the Gregory Case which is in Foley's possession. I have cautioned Vanech not to warn Foley in any way that we are trying to get the report back thereby causing Foley to have it photostated. I have suggested the possibility of a conference with Foley to which he might be invited to bring the report and an effort be made to obtain it ostensibly because a revised report will be prepared or for some other reason.

Respectfully,

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. TOLSON
MR. TAMM
MR. LADD

The Secretary of the Treasury, John W. Snyder, telephoned me and asked if the Attorney General had talked with me about the Gregory Case.

I advised him that he had and that he felt there should be some further inquiry, by grand jury or otherwise, before taking any open action, however he had not yet reached a decision. I told the Secretary that he contemplated bringing in an expert in that type of work and having him analyze these reports before proceeding in the case. I explained that the idea behind this was to have these various people interviewed by our investigators or have some of them taken before the grand jury for further interrogation without any publicity.

I advised that the Attorney General thought there was an inclination on the part of some of the officials in the Treasury Department to interview these people themselves. The Secretary said that this was so because they did not want to be surprised by being exposed suddenly.

I further advised the Secretary that about three weeks ago the Attorney General had decided to take no further prosecutive or investigative action and that at that time I had suggested sending to each of the Departments a summary of what we had in our files. I reminded the Secretary that some of it had already been sent to him. I told him that the Attorney General had then agreed to this but now he feels that there is a need for further investigation by this Bureau or for interviews of these people by attorneys who might later wish to present it to a grand jury. I pointed out that if such is the case, any interviews by the various Departments should be deferred until we have disposed of what we want to do on the matter.

I emphasized the fact that it was my understanding that before any open action was taken the individual Departments would be advised and assured the Secretary that I would keep him informed on this matter.

While discussing another matter with the Attorney General, I told him I was still against prosecution in the Gregory Case. The Attorney General asked what we should do if we did not prosecute, and I told him we had assumed we were to go ahead preparing the summaries - him to forward to the various Governmental Agencies. The Attorney General stated he was afraid the same thing would happen that occurred days ago, when the Treasury Department asked him if he had interrogated Elizabeth Bentley, Katherine Sells, and Whitaker Chambers; said they want to fire Sonja Gold and Victor Perlo, but two others are in foreign service and they will not be able to take action for about a month. They wanted to know if we had technical surveillances on them and the Attorney General told them he did not know and doubted that such would assist them. They wanted to know if agents would talk to a man by the name of "Mal" Harney, Chief Coordinator who replaced Elmer L. Fry at the Treasury Department.

Attorney General stated he had not given any material to the Agriculture or Commerce Departments, that he believed the State Department had such material since it had been furnished to former Secretary James F. Byrnes. I pointed out that Fred Lyon had been transferred to foreign service, and Acheson had taken over. The Attorney General asked if he should talk to Secretary Marshall about this. I told him that he had appointed Acheson as Chief of Staff and given him complete power. I told him I had seen an article in the New York Journal American last Monday or Tuesday about the Acheson clique and that he was getting rid of men who had tried to do anything about Communists in the State Department. I pointed out that no names were given in the article. I mentioned that they were getting rid of these men under the pretense that in order to retain your foreign status, it was necessary to serve a certain number of years in the foreign service and United States, although a few exceptions have been made. I mentioned that Mr. Lyon who was Director of Controls, was being replaced by a man named Robinson, who is one of the principal subjects in the Gregory case. His brother-in-law is one of the principal subjects in the case. Attorney General asked why we did not tell Secretary Marshall or the President. I pointed out that Marshall would not do anything, but tell Acheson and that the President would only pass it on to Secretary Marshall.

I told the Attorney General that if he was going ahead with the Gregory Case, he should hold up sending material to the Governmental Agencies. I stated that I felt Tom Donegan could analyze the case and give him the correct advice, that there are various steps he might want to take. He may want to interview these people without a Grand Jury; may want to interview them through a Grand Jury, then even after they have all been interviewed, he may have no case for prosecution.

Mr. J. H. Hanley of the Secret Service was referred to the writer this morning by Mr. Tamm for interview. Mr. Hanley explained that he had recently checked with the Civil Service Commission relative to this subject, who is now a Treasury Attache in the United States Embassy in China, and through the Civil Service Commission's file he became aware of the fact that the Bureau had conducted investigation of Adler in January, 1946. He desired to be advised of the contents of the Bureau's files relative to Adler.

In the course of the conversation Mr. Hanley pointed out that he had been to the Washington Field Office and was referred to the office of the Attorney General and later to Mr. Tamm. It appears that he was just recently assigned to the Washington office of the Secret Service and was therefore not informed as to the channels for name check work.

Since this matter appeared to be a routine name check, the writer arranged to re-contact Hanley at the Treasury Department, Extension 395, to report the results. However, it has now been ascertained that the subject is involved in the Gregory case, a summary of which has been available to the Secretary of the Treasury.

If you concur, I will telephonically advise Mr. Hanley that a summary of the information in our files has been made available directly to the Secretary of the Treasury.

February 14, 1947

Pursuant to the Director's instructions, I called Hanley and told him Mr. Foley of his Department had a detailed memorandum in his possession which contained the results of our investigation of Adler, up to date as of its date, that as he, Hanley, was told by our Washington Field Office the day before yesterday, the file covering the facts since then is not immediately available because a summary of the up-to-date data on Adler has just been furnished the Attorney General for transmittal to the Treasury Department. I assured him that otherwise we would have been glad to have complied with his request immediately as we always do. Hanley expressed complete satisfaction and made the comment he could not understand the situation because Foley is his superior, but that he would check with Foley for the information he already has and tell him that the complete, up-to-date data is now en route to the Treasury Department.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. TOLSON
MR. LADD

I returned the Assistant to the Attorney General McGreger's telephone call and he advised that Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, Edward H. Foley, Jr., had just called him and said that he had had a conference with the Attorney General in reference to getting some information supplementing the files they have on the Gregory Case and that he, Foley, had asked the Attorney General to get it for him. He stated that Foley mentioned that the Attorney General has said that he was going to talk to me about it and that Foley was very anxious to get it.

I suggested that Foley not be given any information and told him that the Attorney General talked to me on this matter last week. I advised him that the Attorney General outlined to me the way he proposed to handle the case and that he, the Attorney General, was of the opinion that, pending his decision, no more information on this case should be given to the Executive Departments. I told Mr. McGreger that the Attorney General gave me the impression that he was going to advise the Secretary of Treasury.

I advised Mr. McGreger that the Secretary of Treasury called me the following day and that I believed Foley was with him at the time. The Secretary asked me if the Attorney General had talked to me on this matter and I advised that he had. I then advised the Secretary that the Attorney General had not decided what course he would take and that he, the Attorney General, felt that pending that determination, no further action should be taken by the other government agencies until he makes the decision as to what this Department will do from either the investigative or prosecutive angle. I told the Secretary that, no doubt, the Attorney General would keep him advised of developments along that line.

INDEXED

I told Mr. McGreger that the Secretary did not want to be subjected to an exposure by some outside investigation and that I had assured him that insofar as the Department of Justice is concerned, the Attorney General would advise him just as soon as it is safe in his estimation for administrative action to be taken by the various departments.

In view of this, Mr. McGregor thought it best not to tell Foley anything and to let the Attorney General inform the Secretary of Treasury of anything he wants him to know. I pointed out that I was a bit skeptical of their being so anxious to get this information and that I am fearful of the "pipelines" from the Treasury Department to various columnists. I told the Assistant Attorney General that it was undoubtedly Foley, in collusion with Stephen J. Spingarn, an assistant general counsel for Treasury, who were more concerned about this matter than the Secretary.

Re: PHILIP HORTON FIELD

Re. Gregory Case

Philip Horton Field is an extremely close contact of John Tarras, in connection with whom you authorized a technical surveillance some months ago. Tarras has been used in the past as an intermediary by Sam Cane, important Soviet espionage agent who was involved in the Igor Sergeevitch Gouzenko Case in Canada. The investigation of Tarras has developed clear indications of his implication in intelligence activity and recent investigation reflects that at the present time Tarras is either furnishing to or receiving from Philip Horton Field instructions and information possibly in connection with an intelligence operation on behalf of the Soviet Union. In addition, Field has recently been in contact with individuals deeply involved in the Gregory Case, which, as you will of course recall, involves extensive Soviet espionage parallels in agencies of the United States Government.

It is recommended that you authorize the installation of a technical surveillance on the residence of Philip Horton Field, 204 West 51st Street, New York City, telephone Schuyler 8-4441.

Respectfully,

John Edgar Hoover
Director

MEMORANDUM FOR THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

Yesterday afternoon the Secretary of the Treasury called me by phone and inquired of me as to whether you had discussed with me the aspects of the Gregory Case as they pertained to the employees of the Treasury Department. I gathered from the conversation of the Secretary of the Treasury that someone was with him when he was talking to me about this matter.

I told the Secretary of the Treasury that you had in fact that morning discussed with me phases of the Gregory Case and that I believed you were giving your personal attention to this matter and had in mind some further inquiry and study by the Department of Justice. The Secretary of the Treasury referred to the fact that he did not wish to have an exposure of Treasury employees by some outside group to the embarrassment of the Treasury Department and for that reason he had considered the advisability of the Treasury officials proceeding in this matter as pertaining to their own employees.

I pointed out to the Secretary of the Treasury that I thought any such contemplated action would be most unwise at the present time, at least until the Attorney General had reached a decision as to what further action was to be taken by this Department. I stated to the Secretary of the Treasury that I believed the Attorney General had in mind having some further study and analysis made of the investigative reports in order to determine the possibility of further developments in this case with a view towards prosecution if possible and that consequently any action by any other Governmental Agencies along the line of interviews or hearings might very seriously impair any plan which the Attorney General might have in mind. I told the Secretary of the Treasury that I would call to your attention his conversation with me in order that you might advise him of what your decision was in this matter so that he might be guided accordingly.

In connection with the Gregory Case you will of course recall that several weeks ago you decided at that time that it would be desirable for the FBI to prepare summaries upon the various persons involved in this case so that these summaries might be forwarded by us to the various Departments in the Government, it having been determined at that time that no further prosecutive or investigative action was to be taken. These summaries are now about completed and will be transmitted within a few days. However, if it is your intention to reconsider this entire matter and have further study and analysis made of it I would of course suggest that the summaries not be forwarded to the various Governmental Agencies at this time for the reason that they would inevitably proceed with some investigation of their own and possibly conduct certain hearings which might impair any further investigative action you desire in this matter and affect any prosecutive action which you might finally decide upon.

Respectfully,

*John Edgar Hoover

Re: GREGORY
 Espionage - R
 MARY JANE KEENEY
 Colonel THOMAS

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Reference is made to letters directed by the New York Field Office to the Washington Field Office dated November 14 and December 2, 1946, regarding "Colonel THOMAS." The New York Office made a study of information available relative to LOUIS LITMAN and JOSIE TRUSLOW ADAMS for a possible lead as to the identity of Colonel THOMAS. [It was ascertained that in the past no technical or surveillance coverage had been maintained on these persons, both of whom were known to have a wide circle of acquaintances and friends.] The New York Office was unable to suggest anyone who might be identical with Colonel THOMAS.

Information now available reflects on July 17, 1944, GEORGE and JEANETTE FAXON, accompanied by Colonel THOMAS, had dinner with MARY JANE and PHILIP OLIN KEENEY, apparently at the KEENEY apartment.

The Boston Field Office has advised GEORGE RYDER and JEANETTE DUNLOP FAXON reside at 480 Center Street, Jamaica Plain, Massachusetts, and that GEORGE FAXON is a teacher at the Samuel Adams School, Boston, which is alleged to be communist dominated. JEANETTE FAXON has been active in Communist work and is a known registered member.

Attention is directed to the fact that LOUIS LITMAN and JOSIE TRUSLOW ADAMS are connected with the Jefferson School of Social Science, New York City, and also that GEORGE FAXON is affiliated with the Samuel Adams School. Since information available reflects that each of these individuals is acquainted with "Colonel Thomas," it is felt that Colonel THOMAS may have been affiliated with the Jefferson School of Social Science during 1944 and 1945. You will recall that Colonel THOMAS wrote PHILIP KEENEY that he THOMAS was going home and would not receive any letters directed to him after January 10, 1946.

It is suggested that the New York Office attempt to ascertain if there was any teacher or instructor at the Jefferson School who resigned during the latter part of 1945 and thereafter departed from this country.

It is also believed that Colonel THOMAS may have been a European refugee, possibly of German extraction, who resided in the United States during the HITLER regime. You will recall that PHILIP KEENEY commented in a letter to MARY JANE that it had taken "Colonel THOMAS" years to return to his home and that THOMAS had "done wonders while away."

Should the identity of such an individual be ascertained, handwriting specimens should be obtained if possible and submitted to the FBI Laboratory for comparison with the known specimen of "Colonel THOMAS."

SAC Scheidt called from New York to advise that Tom Donegan had telephoned him indicating that he had agreed with the Attorney General that as a Special Assistant to the Attorney General, he would review the file in the Gregory case. Donegan asked Mr. Scheidt to contact the Bureau and receive the necessary authority to turn over to Donegan the file in the Gregory case. I explained Mr. Donegan's status to Mr. Scheidt and told Scheidt the Bureau would first determine from the Attorney General whether the Attorney General now desired that the Gregory file be turned over to Donegan and when the Attorney General confirmed this, we would then authorize the New York Office to turn over to Donegan a complete set of the reports in the case. Scheidt thought it might be well to turn over the Bureau file to Donegan but I pointed out that we would need the file soon for our day to day supervision of the case in New York. I further pointed out the Bureau might have to later furnish to the Criminal Division a set of investigative reports at Washington and that we should turn over to Donegan exactly what we would turn over to the Department in Washington. I told Mr. Scheidt to make up a file containing one copy of all investigative reports prepared in the case and to incorporate in investigative report form at this time any additional information pertinent to the case which had not been placed in report form. Mr. Scheidt was informed the Bureau would advise him as soon as authority was received from the Attorney General to make the file available to Donegan. Donegan indicated to Scheidt he was attempting to obtain some office space in the Foley Square Courthouse Building and would probably be some days before he would be ready for the file.

Prior to the time the memorandum could be typed to the Attorney General asking for instructions in this matter, Mr. Belmont telephoned from New York to advise that Donegan and Mr. Vincent Quinn had arrived at the New York Office and were requesting the reports in the Gregory case. Pursuant to your authorization, Mr. Belmont was instructed to make a set of the reports available to Donegan and Quinn for their review.

A memorandum to the Attorney General advising him of this fact is attached hereto.

Mr. E. A. Tamm requested that I make an objective analysis of this case from a legal and investigative standpoint for the Director. Pursuant to this request, the following observations are set forth:

We have an informant in this case referred to as Gregory who appears to be unusually intelligent and has related in detail of activities on the part of various individuals, in the main employees or past employees of the United States Government, which activities, if corroborated, would probably support a successful prosecution under existing statutes. There appears little reason to doubt Gregory's statement that information and documents from Government records were supplied Gregory by Silvermaster, Perlo, et al and that this material was turned over by Gregory to a member or contact of the Soviet Intelligence Service; however, what we know to be true in this case is a far cry from what we are in a position to prove beyond a reasonable doubt.

The Bureau was not apprised of Gregory's activities until November of 1945 and the inquiry since that time has been largely the development of information which might serve in corroboration of an alleged relationship between members of the so-called Silvermaster group, the Perlo group, as well as others. We have established since November of 1945 the fact that there exists a fraternal and intimate social bond among those individuals who, according to Gregory, were active more or less in concert prior to November of 1945 in supplying the informant data from various Government agencies. Beyond having evidence of this social relationship, we have little or nothing save the statement of the informant.

The subjects in this case are extraordinarily intelligent, at least they are unusually well educated, and include some very prominent people, including Harry Dexter White. It can be expected that some of the finest legal talent in the country would be retained for their defense in the event of prosecution. With the evidence presently available, the case is nothing more than the word of Gregory against that of the several conspirators. The likely result would be an acquittal under very embarrassing circumstances.

The following is a brief resume of the contacts made by the Bureau's informant during the course of which information was obtained through the subjects with respect to the activities and records of various Government agencies:

Also during this period active in establishing contacts was "Mad. Bret" (identified as Olga Borisovna Pravdina, a former employee of Amtorg who returned to Russia in March of 1946).

November 1943 -

September 1944..... Material delivered to "Bill" (unidentified) who had been introduced to Gregory by "Catherine."

October 1944 -

December 1945..... "Bill" turned Gregory over to an individual known only as "Jack" (unidentified). In December of 1944 Gregory was removed from his duties as courier but during the association with "Jack" the informant was introduced to one "Al" subsequently identified as Anatoli Borisovich Gromov, formerly First Secretary of the Soviet Embassy, Washington. Through surveillance Al is known to have contacted Gregory in New York in November of 1945. "Al", or Gromov, departed from the United States for Moscow on December 7, 1945.

Gregory cannot testify in any instance to whom Golos and his successors delivered the material collected for them. Additionally, Golos is dead; "Catherine," "Bill," and "Jack" have not been identified; and "Al" presumably is in Russia. There is thus a complete blank at the receiving end of information obtained by Gregory from Silvermaster, Perlo et al. Gregory has stated, however, that during the period of association with Golos, the latter selected those items of a political, economic, or social intelligence character and made them available to Earl Browder, at the time National Chairman of the Communist Party. Browder in no instance kept this information for delivery to a third person since he did not wish to become compromised in the collection of material of this type.

It appears that Gregory obtained from the Silvermaster and Perlo groups information from the Department of State, the Office of Strategic Services, the Treasury Department, the War Department, the Department of Justice, the Foreign Economic Administration, and numerous other agencies of the Federal Government and that this information was turned over to Golos and his successors. Where it went from Golos et al we cannot prove, although we are reasonably certain it went to the Soviet Intelligence Service.

In considering the possibility of successfully proceeding under the espionage statutes, the following questions appear pertinent:

(1) Does the evidence now available establish the obtaining of information with respect to the National Defense of the United States with the intent or reason to believe such information would be used to the injury of the United States, and/or for the benefit of a foreign country?

COMMENT:

Gregory, it is to be presumed, can testify generally from recollection as to the type of information obtained which information, as a type, would probably be construed, considering that a state of war existed, as relating to the National Defense. No one else, however, is presently available to identify this information and, presuming a jury were inclined to believe Gregory in the face of denials by other defendants, it is questionable whether the informant's recollection would be sufficiently definite and detailed without some corroboration to sustain a conviction. It would be the word of one defendant against that of several others without more, which is always a precarious predicate for a conviction.

Furthermore, "intent or reason to believe such information will be used to the injury of the United States, and/or for the benefit of a foreign country" is an essential element of this offense. We have no evidence from which "intent or reason to believe" can be proved or reasonably inferred in the case of the Silvermaster or Perlo groups. We can identify their Communist connections but this does not supply the requisite intent or reason to believe under the statutes. Let us presume the co-conspirators admitted they obtained certain information but that they merely did so with a view to keeping abreast of Government developments for the Communist Party. Would that admission sustain the premise that the information was to be used to the injury of the United States or for the benefit of a foreign country? I think not, without going into the entire question of the status of the Communist Party as a political arm of the Soviet Union. Even Gregory can't testify where the information went after leaving him and his admission that he believed it would be used by Soviet Intelligence is not binding on the other co-conspirators, particularly in view of the informant's relationship as a courier.

(2) Does the evidence available show that the subjects had lawful or unlawful possession of any document or note pertaining to the National Defense and (a) willfully transmitted or attempted to transmit the same to any person not entitled to receive it, or (b) willfully retained the same and failed to deliver it on demand to the officer or employee of the United States entitled to receive it.

COMMENT:

Here we have only the statement of Gregory as to the nature of the documents or notes involved, some of which were, according to the informant, copied or photographed in the basement of the Silvermaster home. (It is otherwise known that a fully equipped photographic laboratory is located in the basement of the Silvermaster home.) Under this section it is the document itself, the unlawful possession and transmittal of which is proscribed. Certainly the document must be produced or identified with sufficient definiteness to show by other facts that it did, in fact, relate to the National Defense. I sincerely doubt if Gregory's testimony would go sufficiently far in this direction. As a matter of fact, should the other subjects deny the possession of such documents, as they almost surely will, a very substantial and detailed showing will be required in the absence of the documents themselves as to just what they were. In other words, in a statute penalizing possession and transmittal of a document you must either produce the document or in its absence conclusively show that it comes within the provisions of the statute. We don't have the evidence to do this.

The fact that the Silvermasters have a photographic laboratory in their basement in 1945 is very effective corroboration of the veracity of our informant, however, without more, it does not go to establish the fact presumptively or otherwise that they had such a laboratory in 1942, 1943, 1944, or even 1945, and more particularly that it was used to photograph in these years documents, the possession and transmittal of which are penalized by the statute. And until you have sufficiently shown what the document was the question of its reproduction is wholly irrelevant and immaterial.

The foregoing observations apply equally to the other sections of the code relating to espionage.

From the standpoint of the Registration Act, this case presents a substantial question of agency. Gregory was the agent of Golos and his successors for the purpose of obtaining the information and Silvermaster, Perlo, and their cohorts could be no more, but who was their principal? Was the principal a foreign government? Was the principal a "foreign principal?" What we can prove here again falls far short of what we know. I don't think the evidence available is sufficient to prove the agency that is a requisite to a violation.

My understanding is that the Department has also indicated the thought of possibly proceeding against the subjects of this case for Fraud Against the Government on the theory that the Government was defrauded of subjects' services in so far as and to the extent that their time was devoted to the gathering of information to be transmitted to Gregory. I personally feel that this theory is ridiculous. To sustain a prosecution of this character it would be necessary to show specific times and instances in which the subjects departed from their contemplated duties for the purpose of gathering the information and, furthermore, prove that such departures were unauthorized and out of the scope of their duties. If we could show, for example, that William Ullmann, one of the subjects, left the Treasury Department at 2:00 o'clock one afternoon, not being on leave, how could we hope to show that such departure was unauthorized, was out of the scope of his assigned duties and, of course, was incident to his gathering or transmitting information to Golos and others.

To my way of thinking, considering that a state of war existed, this case is one of Soviet espionage or it is nothing. At this point the evidence very definitely is insufficient to sustain a successful prosecution under the espionage statutes. The question, therefore, remains as to what further action reasonably should be taken in connection with this case.

CONCLUSIONS

1. The evidence available in the Gregory case is not sufficient at this time to sustain a successful prosecution under existing Federal statutes.
2. The investigation, as presently being conducted, offers little likelihood of providing corroborative evidence with respect to activities occurring during the association of Gregory with the subjects.
3. It is highly problematical whether the present inquiry will establish violations independent of those indicated by Gregory. Without an informant working within the group of subjects the odds in this respect are nil.
4. The principal value of the investigation has been to develop subjects in addition to those indicated by Gregory.
5. To continue the investigation on its present basis does not appear justified inasmuch as the results are largely cumulative save for an occasional new face in the picture.

6. Had we been in contact with Gregory during the course of his courier activity, beyond question evidence could have been developed sustaining prosecution for espionage. Coming in after the event as the Bureau did, we are now on the outside looking in, with the rather embarrassing responsibility of having a most serious case of Soviet espionage laid in our laps without a decent opportunity to make it stick. This very circumstance, however, necessitates pursuing more direct methods, particularly since the facts of the Gregory statement are known to several persons and agencies outside the Bureau.

7. The only reasonable hope of salvaging a successful prosecution is (a) to endeavor to make an informant of one of the subjects and/or (b) to interview the subjects in the hope that at least one will break and serve as a corroborative witness to Gregory.

Contacting one of the subjects with a view to making him an informant would appear to be the only effective means of establishing violations independent of those indicated by Gregory, with particular regard to possible contemporaneous violations.

Failing to successfully develop one of the subjects as an informant, I doubt if any more can be accomplished of probative value through further investigation apart from the interviews. This case will stand or fall dependent upon the extent to which the subjects may break and in breaking corroborate Gregory. I personally am of the opinion that the Bureau would be subjected to possible criticism as being derelict in its responsibility in this instance if the various subjects were not thoroughly and exhaustively interviewed. The odds are not too good that such interviews would terminate successfully; however, it is quite possible that some of the lesser lights among the subjects would crack during the course of a careful and pointed interview.

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. That one of the subjects of this case, probably the weakest sister, be contacted with a view to making him an informant. This is an outside chance but offers the only reasonable prospect of making a case with respect to contemporaneous and future events.

2. Failing in this respect, that immediately the other subjects be exhaustively interviewed. Since an interview with one would virtually amount to putting all of them on notice, it would seem logical to conduct such interviews as nearly simultaneously as possible.

3. That inasmuch as the case is in the hands of the Department, its approval be obtained before taking the foregoing action.

4. That failing to break any of the subjects, serious consideration be given to exposing this lousy outfit and at least hounding them from the Federal service. Several possibilities exist in this regard but this would seem to be a bridge to cross when we get to it.

Reference is made to Bureau letter dated January 31, 1947, directed to the New York Field Division, copy of which was submitted to this office, wherein it was requested that the Washington Field Division check the records of NORTMAN's previous employment in an effort to establish if NORTMAN signed any application forms or any portions thereof, in which he denied that he was a member of the Communist Party or was ever affiliated with the Party. The letter further requested that a photograph be obtained and furnished the New York Field Division for its assistance in connection with this investigation.

In order that the Bureau may have complete information on P. BERNARD NORTMAN, this letter will summarize the information presently in the possession of the Washington Field Division in relation to NORTMAN.

ALLEGATION

Under date of January 27, 1947, the New York Field Division reported that in connection with P. BERNARD NORTMAN, GREGORY advised that she first met this individual while she was attending Columbia University in about 1936. She stated that NORTMAN and herself at that time were both in Unit One of the Harlem Section of the Communist Party and she saw him very frequently at Communist Party meetings and from her observation of his activities, she believed he was very active in this particular unit and could well have been a functionary. She stated that in about 1937, this Unit was split and NORTMAN became associated with another Unit but that she saw him around Columbia University and knew that he was still active in Communist Party activities. Although her recollection is positive that NORTMAN had a Party name, she is presently unable to recall it. GREGORY stated that she last saw NORTMAN at Columbia University in about 1938 and thereafter, did not see him until the Spring of 1944. The occasion of this meeting was while she was enroute from Washington, D. C., to New York City by train, when she accidentally met him in the buffet car. According to her, he seemed very surprised to see her and although there was considerable conversation between them, until NORTMAN left the train, probably at Philadelphia, GREGORY declared NORTMAN was very careful in his talk; that the conversation was innocuous, no reference being made to former Party activities on the part of either. GREGORY said that NORTMAN seemed quite perturbed when he told her of his position at that time with the War Production Board and GREGORY answered that she occasionally heard reports about him.

BACKGROUND

CONNECTION WITH CASE

Refer

NORTMAN was first observed in connection with this case to have visited the residence of VICTOR PERLO on December 1, 1945. Subsequently, it was ascertained that he visited the office of Dr. ABRAHAM B. WEINSTEIN on March 11, 1945. Both PERLO and WEINSTEIN are subjects of this investigation.

RESULTS OF INVESTIGATION

X 45

A reliable confidential informant has advised that [REDACTED]

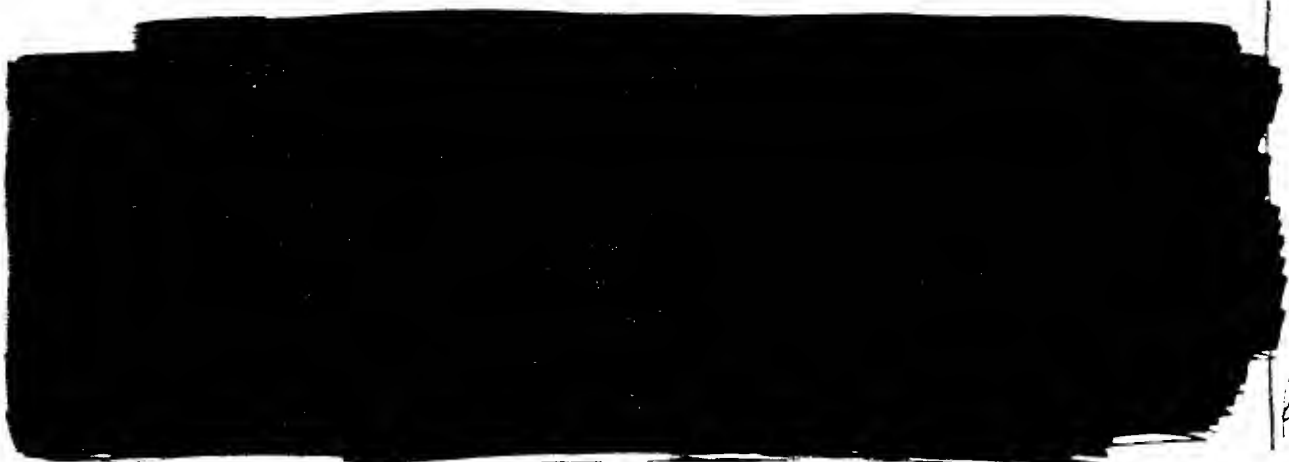

[REDACTED]

Through investigation and physical surveillances, it has been determined that NORTMAN is a close associate of numerous subjects in the above-entitled case and particularly, in close association with MARY JANE KEENEY during the last few months. It has been determined that NORTMAN has been closely connected with the officials of Radio Station WQQW, the stockholders of said station being mainly composed of subjects in the Gregory Case. It further appears that several of the stockholders of this station, as listed in the records, have been subjects of investigations by the Committee on Un-American Activities and that leads to the inquiry as to whether the Communications Commission is granting a license that will be used for the dissemination of propaganda of even more than a political campaign purpose. It further appears that the stockholders indicate a connection with the Political Action Committee of the C.I.O. which further indicates the probability that this station is being set up for political propaganda purposes to serve the special interests of organized minorities rather than on the basis of the criterion in the Act based upon the public convenience and necessity for radio services.

The personnel file of NORTMAN as maintained by the War Production Board during his employment there, was made available by Mrs. LITTLETON in the Civilian Production Board Offices located in Room 1313 Social Security Building, revealed that in July of 1943, NORTMAN had applied for Federal employment with this organization and Question Seventeen in this application was identical to the one as set out above which was again answered negatively and sworn to by NORTMAN before an authorized Notary Public in July of 1943.

The personnel file also contained a Personal Affidavit Form which is commonly referred to as the Hatch Act Oath which was sworn to by NORTMAN on August 31, 1943, before an authorized Notary Public for the District of Columbia.

In connection with the Bureau's request that a photograph of NORTMAN be furnished the New York Field Division, this is to advise that photographs of NORTMAN have recently been taken and are presently in the process of being developed and printed and immediately upon receipt of these photographs, they will be forwarded by separate communication to the New York Office as requested.

You may recall that Helen B. Tenney, a subject in instant case, according to Gregory, in the late summer of 1943 came to Washington at the suggestion of Jacob M. Golos, a known Soviet agent, for the purpose of obtaining employment with the Office of Strategic Services. Thereafter Gregory contacted Tenney in Washington and received from her certain highly confidential information which Tenney had obtained through the course of her employment with OSS. Previous to Golos' death in November, 1943, Tenney supplied information to Golos directly. According to Gregory's opinion, Tenney did not know the true identity of Golos; however, she must have at least strongly suspected that the data being supplied by her eventually went to the Russians. Gregory advised that in December, 1944, Tenney was paid $50.00 a month for her services upon the instructions of the unknown Russian contact "Jack".

You may also recall that Gregory has advised that after Gregory ceased contacting Tenney in November, 1944, Tenney met a man whose description tallies very closely with the unknown Russian contact "Jack". Shortly thereafter this unknown man turned Tenney over to Joseph B. Gregg, another subject in this case whom Tenney had previously known. Thereafter Tenney turned over information to Gregg in a similar manner as she did to Gregory. Thereafter this unknown man introduced Tenney to a new woman contact whose identity is unknown. Tenney continued to turn over information to this unknown woman. These activities continued until the evening of Thanksgiving Day, 1945.

Helen Tenney resigned from the Strategic Services Unit of the War Department, formerly a branch of the Office of Strategic Services, on June 25, 1946, and returned to New York City. Later it was learned that she was planning to travel to Italy and France as a free lance reporter for "Cue" Magazine. The records of the State Department indicate that Tenney received a passport for travel to Europe which was issued on August 6, 1946; however, this passport was taken up on August 14, 1946, because it had been ascertained that she had furnished her maiden name in applying for the passport but had failed to produce a Certificate of Divorce.

The New York Office advised on January 18, 1947, that according to Informant Gregory information has been received through Irma Nelson, a close friend of Helen Tenney, that Tenney is confined at the Apyne Whitney Clinic (for mental patients) New York City. Nelson advised Gregory that Tenney has been in poor physical condition for some time and received quite a shock when her passport was suddenly revoked last summer. She is reported to be suffering from a severe psychosis. Tenney has advised Irma Nelson that she, Tenney, desires to see Informant Gregory.

Subsequently on January 14, 1947, the New York Office advised that according to Gregory Irma Nelson stated that Helen Tenney appears to be recovering from her severe nervous collapse that she suffered last summer. Nelson said that when she visited Tenney in Washington in the summer of 1946 Tenney was greatly disturbed because she said that people had been following her; that her telephone was tapped; that her friends were under surveillance; and that Tenney was muttering about being a Russian spy. Nelson also stated that she saw Tenney shortly after Gregory's last visit with Tenney during the summer of 1946, and said that immediately prior to Tenney's scheduled sailing for Europe Tenney was notified by the Steamship Company that her passport was defective and several days later Tenney received a letter from the State Department advising her that on the basis of information received from a proper Governmental agency her passport was being revoked.

When Nelson next saw Tenney in September, 1946, Tenney became hysterical and mentioned that she was a spy and shortly thereafter took an overdose of phenobarbitol which was regarded as an attempt at suicide. As a result of this she was removed to a hospital and remained unconscious for five days. She was delirious upon regaining consciousness and recently has been showing signs of recovering her stability. Nelson stated that Tenney appears to have a violent phobia now against everything Russian, even mention of the word "Russian" and she is still being watched carefully to prevent suicide.

Nelson is of the opinion that Tenney is suffering from hallucinations concerning her being a spy and Gregory has the impression that the consulting physicians of Tenney's family do not attach any credence to Tenney's statements along this line. On December 22, 1946, Nelson took Tenney from the hospital for the day during which time Tenney appeared almost normal, although she is still very nervous.

Irma Nelson has made an appointment for Gregory to meet Tenney and Nelson at Longchamps Restaurant, Madison Avenue and 79th Street, New York City, at 4:30 p.m., January 19, 1947, and stressed that Tenney desires to confer privately with Gregory. Gregory is very apprehensive about such a meeting in view of Tenney's reported proclivity towards suicide, and is presently undecided whether to keep the appointment. The New York Office advised that they are going to instruct Gregory to refrain from attending such meeting with Tenney unless Bureau advice is received to the contrary, and that Gregory should not meet Tenney until more information concerning Tenney's present condition is obtained.

RECOMMENDATION:

It is deemed highly advisable that in view of Tenney's mental state at this time and further in view of her desire to contact Gregory that such contact should be arranged since it is highly probable that Tenney may, in this state of mind, reveal some startling information to Gregory which is not known to the Bureau in connection with her past or present activities on behalf of the Soviets. It might well be that Tenney has continued to contact one of the Russians and may still be active in an espionage parallel.

It is highly improbable that Tenney will commit suicide on the occasion of this meeting at Longchamps or at any time that she is in the company of Gregory, since it is known that she has confided with Gregory in the past and appears to have utmost confidence in Gregory. In the event that she does commit an act of self-destruction in the near future the question would always be in the Bureau's mind as to what Tenney had to disclose to Gregory.

Memorandum for The Director

It is further suggested that when this contact is made that the New York Office instruct Gregory to suggest to Tenney that she avail herself to a psychiatrist for an analysis and if Tenney agrees to this suggestion, the New York Office may be able to arrange a contact with such a doctor in order to obtain the context of Tenney's disclosures to the doctor at the time an examination is made.

ACTION:

There is attached hereto for your approval a teletype to the New York Field Division setting out instructions along the lines in the above recommendation.
